

Cape Town – South Africa

SOUTH AFRICA

VS.

PHARMA CARTELL

By: Dr. Anthony Rees

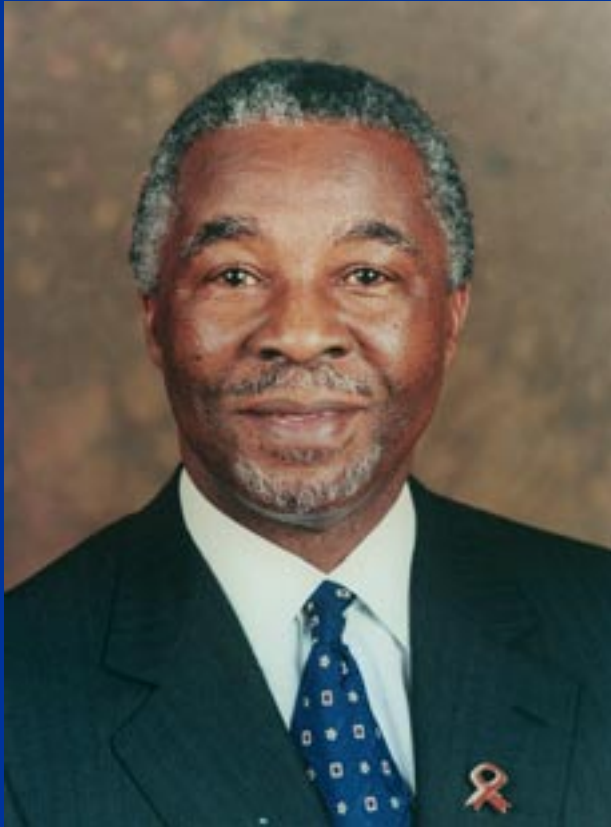

Director: Herbology & Optimal Nutrition
Education & Research Institute.

Co coordinator : PHARMAPACT

Delegate : CODEX Alimentarius 2003

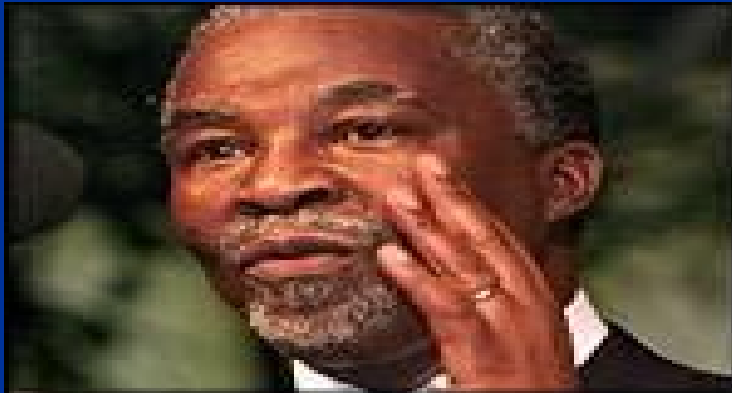

THE HEROS OF THE STRIGGLE FOR HEALTH FREEDOM

State President:
Thabo Mbeki

Minister of Health:
Manto Tshabalala-Msimang

Breaking the Patents!

Thirty-nine of the world's biggest drug companies drop their controversial legal challenge against South Africa in a move that is hailed a victory for the developing world and a breakthrough in the fight against diseases.

SOUTH AFRICAN BATTLE FOR HEALTH FREEDOM - CODEX

FULL LEAKED DOCUMENT

Prof. Peter folb

“Such regulations must be modelled after current good manufacturing practice regulations for drugs. Such high regulations we would certainly welcome, considering South Africa is a member of a CODEX commission where such enforcement world-wide will become standard practice through CODEX mandate.”

“ The single, largest obstacle we face is that the consumers and other such groupings feel they have a right to these substances without our proposed regulations.”

SOUTH AFRICAN BATTLE FOR HEALTH FREEDOM - CODEX

“There is no desire or intent to impose on dietary supplements the type of documentation and validation currently required in the manufacture of pharmaceutical products as yet, however these will be necessary in due course as the industry establishes itself in belief of protection.”

“We believe that all supplements and Complimentary medicines should be classified as pharmaceutical substances, and the Good Manufacturing Practices applicable to them are similar to those generally applicable to other pharmaceutical substances in an imperative public protection plan directed by the World Health Organisation.”